A PETITION FOR A WRIT OF CERTIORARI TO THE UNITED STATES COURT OF APPEALS FOR THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

PETITIONER'S PRAYER

Petitioner, Marian Virginia Buxton, prays that a Writ of Certiorari issue to review the Judgment of the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia entered on January 15, 1974 in the above-entitled cause.

CITATION TO THE OPINION BELOW

The opinion of the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit is printed in the Appendix attached hereto. Infra, page .

CONSTITUTIONAL PROVISIONS INVOLVED

(1) The Fifth Amendment to the United States Constitution provides in pertinent part: "No person shall . . . be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law."

(2) Constitutional Law 1 and 2. "A Constitution is . . . the Supreme Law . . . It's principles and rules rest on the fundamental concept of a Supreme Law expressed in written form in accordance with which all private rights must be determined and all public authorities administered."

(3) Criminal Liability for depriving or conspiring to deprive a person of his civil rights. Civil Rights Act of 1964, No. 16.

(4) Liability in damages under Civil Rights Laws for Conspiracy to deprive a person of his Civil Rights. Civil Rights Law No. 8, U.S.C. pp. 439.

(5) Digest of Conspiracy to Involuntary Servitude and Peonage, Constitutional Law No. 101.

(6) Civil Rights Decision of the United States Supreme Court in 1971. Griffin, Eugene, et al. Petitioners v. Breckinridge, Lavon, et al., 403 U.S. 88, 29 L.Ed. pp. 338-351, Civil Rights Decision: This Action was based on 42 U.S.C. 1985(3), which authorizes the recovery of damages where two or more persons conspire or go in disguise on the highway or on the premises of another for the purpose of depriving any person or class of persons of the equal protection of the laws or of equal privileges and immunities under the laws.

(7) The Citizen's "Right to a Speedy and Public Trial", Constitution of the United States Anno: Amendment No. 6, Senate Document No. 37, 88th Congressional Law. U.S. p. 1000.

(8) Tort, Federal Tort Claims Act. Pages 762-767 Construction and Application of 28 U.S.C. S. No. 2675(a) as amended in 1966 and implementing regulations requiring presentation of a claim to and denial of a claim by a Federal Agency before Court Action can be instituted against the United States under the Federal Tort Claims Act, pp. 762-767, Vol. 13, ALR Lawyer's Cooperative Publishing Company, Rochester, New York 1972.

(9) Constitutional Law: The requirement of a three-judge panel at the level of the United States District Court.

JURISDICTION

(1) The jurisdiction of this court, the Supreme Court of the United States to issue the Writ of Certiorari in this civil action arises from torts, defamation of the plaintiff, denial of the right to a speedy and public trial, (Citations 1, 4, 5, 6, 7, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 18, 19, 20, 22, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28) and, indeed, denial of any courtroom hearing at all, denial of any interview or contact with the Amicus Curiae, no opportunity for the three judge panel at the level of the U.S. District Court, and no contact or opportunity to speak with any person of the Judges or lawyers in this action in the United States Court of Appeals.

(2) The oppression of being forced to read wilful misstatements of a report filed by the Amicus Curiae, to endure in silence, discrimination, neglect, and sadism in the actions of the United States Appeals Court for the District of Columbia and the United States District Court for the District of Columbia constitutes tort after tort. These torts have been reported to the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Office of the President of the United States, to the Secretary of Defense, and to various lawyers, officers, and officials of the United States Navy, as well as to several attorneys of the United States and to these Courts of the District of Columbia themselves by various motions. No United States Courts below the level of the United States Supreme Court, nor any District of Columbia judges can disregard the orders of the Superior Court of California except by order of the United States Supreme Court, regarding matters of private property and civil claims.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

(1) Plaintiff, Appellant, and Petitioner repeats her prayer for an order for

(a) pension to be paid to her according to the order of Congress which has passed a law paying pensions to widows of men who have served in the Armed Services of the United States when those widows of men who have served in the Armed Services of the United States are without income.

(b) Restoration of the widow's small apartment home in Honolulu, Hawaii, the family home of the veteran, the Reverend Mr. Buxton and his wife, the petitioner. Also petitioner requests the assistance of the government which she has believed to be the right of dependents of civilian employees and the employees themselves especially when in the U.S.N.R. and especially when classified to the extent of responsibility for the supervision of the Navy Supply Center at Pearl Harbor, Honolulu, Hawaii during the Vietnam War. Such rights to assistance as included in Admiralty Law and in Federal Law do include prevention of public ridicule, accusation and attack during the term of contract employment, safeguard as to personal and property security, and safeguard against the swindle, forgery, and unauthorized change of names on deeds of title to real property and securities while one is overseas.

(c) Lt. Commander James Morgan Buxton (retired, deceased) and his wife, the plaintiff did not receive such safeguard during the last contract of Mr. Buxton with the Navy which ended in 1965 with his retirement, and during that time, the forged transfer of title of their property, that of the Reverend Mr. Buxton, ordained in 1960, and also named Lt. Commander (ret.) and his wife, the petitioner, a large home in Lafayette, California, which seemed to have eventuated in a change of owners without proper property signatures and without remuneration. The same situation occurred during this Navy contract between the U.S. Navy and International Business Machines for the services of Mr. Buxton with regard to some stock certificates which were left on the mainland in a safe deposit box, resulting in illegal forgery and transfer of some of the stock certificates of various companies owned by Mr. and Mrs. James Morgan Buxton. These requests come under the law as to security, housing, medical care, and safeguard of civilian employees of the armed services of the United States. Additionally, plaintiff prays an order for enjoinder against ridicule of an aged, distinguished, decorated and deceased Lt. Commander and deacon licensed to preach and to administer the sacraments of the Episcopal Church, with each complaint filed in the United States District Court, the United States Appeals Court of the District of Columbia and in the United States Supreme Court. The deceased Lt. Commander served his country faithfully actively in the armed services, and as Lt. Commander in the USNR under presidential appointment for more than twenty years.

(d) Petitioner prays an order for money damages for partial destruction of the structure which was the only shelter of the petitioner, a prefabricated log cabin in a very expensive resort at Lake Tahoe, due to Navy Security tap placed there for the protection of the owners and occupants, but without the request of the owner, the petitioner, and without consulting her. The radar or other equipment caused the building to tremble and reverberate to such an extent as to knock down the telephone pole part way, and to knock out the telephone wire into the house. It knocked down the chimney, the stove pipes and the ventilators, damaged the sewer pipes, and the foundation, and knocked many shakes off the roof. The damage was witnessed by an architect at the request of his friend, Attorney at Law, A.J. Ginocchio of Walnut Creek, California. Petitioner has paid thousands of dollars to repair the property which finally had to be sold at a great loss because of the damage to the chimney and other parts of the cabin.

(e) Finally, the petitioner prays an order for, and indeed, an enjoinder against the iniquities of this action in which she has had to read a fantastic report of the amicus curiae gathered from Reno, Nevada, a city in which she has never resided and knows nobody. Petitioner has been deprived of a courtroom hearing of a just cause in the United States District Court and in the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia for a pension as ordered and passed by Congress for widows of veterans of the armed services, and for claims in other matters. Since the number of the public law was not specified in the initial complaint and since the social security for widows over sixty would apply in this case, it seems impossible for the court to legally deny the order for the pension as passed by Congress, for widows of veterans of the armed services of the United States, especially classified widows of good character who have recently passed their sixtieth year as in the case of the petitioner.

SUMMARY OF THE ARGUMENT

(1) Plaintiff has been deprived of a courtroom hearing of a just cause in the United States District Court according to Constitutional Law in which she is entitled to a three judge panel at the level of the U.S. District Court, and to an open courtroom hearing with a speedy and public trial. According to Constitutional Law, petitioner has been deprived of liberty to assume her residence in her home State of Hawaii in her purchased residence, and has been deprvied of an open courtroom hearing from beginning to end of this case, a civil action claim for a pension passed by the Congress for widows of veterans of the armed services, which might be defined and included under the Social Security Act in these circumstances as above-described, and of various other federal rights, properties, and benefits constituting denial of the citizen's rights under Fifth Amendment of the Constitution of the United States and discrimination under the various Civil Rights Laws of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, which include criminal liability for depriving a person thereof, and liability in damages for conspiring to deprive a person of his civil rights. Emphatically, this decision of the United States Appeals Court for the District of Columbia is against the Civil Rights Decision of the United States Supreme Court in 1971, with reference to Griffin, Eugene, et al., Petitioners v. Breckinridge, Lavon, et al., 403, U.S. 88, 29 L. Ed., pp. 338-351, Civil Rights Decision.

(2) The Tort of a civil action in the United States Appeals Court without ever having been heard in any courtroom, and an amicus curiae who remains invisible to the petitioner, of threats, coercion, intimidation and obvious efforts to undermine the character and competency of a classified psychologist constitutes Tort under the Federal Tort Claims Act, and petitioner so claims, after having reported the Tort to the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Navy, and the Office of the President of the United States. The entire dismissal is discriminatory tort. Citation #24 Tort, Federal Tort Claims Act, pp. 762-767, Construction and Application . . . "implementing regulations requiring presentation of claim to and denial of claim by a Federal Agency before the Court Action can be instituted against the United States."

(3) In answer to the accusation of failure to comply with 28 U.S.C. #2675, appellant is amply and emphatically able to verify the submission of a formal claim with the respondent prior to instituting this cause through the following steps of formal notification:

(a) Consultation with the Federal Bureau of Investigation regarding the claim for both Navy pension for widows of servicemen, and the various other claims.

(b) Letters and phone calls to the Office of the President of the United States, the Honorable Richard M. Nixon, which were answered graciously several times, the first time in January of 1972, with a warm letter emphasizing the Civil Rights of the petitioner in the matters of this action as well as other matters.

(c) Consultation with Navy lawyers, Zimmerman and Roberts at Treasure Island Navy Base in California legal center. A phone call requesting an interview appointment resulted in a personal interview with the Navy lawyer in which the petitioner's appeals, needs, and damages were elucidated and sympathetically reviewed. The same type of interview was held by telephone with Mr. Canady of the Navy office in Washington, D.C., which handles assistance to dependents and pensions for widows of veterans of the U.S. Navy.

(d) A legal and formal official claim has been submitted in writing to the Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Forrestal, with the affidavit of service and summons attached to the Complaint and request for an order for payment of the pension as ordered by Congress for widows of men of the armed services and the formal notification of the claim for damages for partial destruction of the log cabin structure, and other claims pertaining to security on the Navy-IBM contract, in which Mr. Buxton was engaged through 1965 in Hawaii, and happenings since then through the death of Mr. Buxton, which has been stated by the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia. The service of this complaint was made officially in Washington, D.C., and preceded the filing of the complaint with the Clerk of the Court of the U.S. District Court in Washington, D.C.

CONCLUSION

(1) Therefore, petitioner complains of tort in the United States District Court and Tort in the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia and prays damages therefor under the Federal Tort Claims Act, pp. 762-767, 28 U.S.C.S. No. 2675(a), as amended in 1966 (citation #24, page 19); complains of discrimination and conspiracy to deprive of equal rights to a widow's pension several congressional laws and orders have provided, and ridicule, neglect, and conspiracy to undermine the widow's right to her home in Hawaii during and after a Navy contract entered into by the husband of petitioner.

(2) Petitioner prays a Writ of Certiorari to the United States Appeals Court in the District of Columbia ordering the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia to review the claim for a pension as passed by Congress of the United States, for the petitioner, a widow of a veteran of the Navy, who is over sixty years of age and has no income and who is still classified and does useful research, and ordering the United States Court of Appeals to review the matter of the home in Hawaii and the other matters of the complaint, and ensuring the petitioner "equal privileges and immunities under the laws" as for all citizens according to Griffin v. Breckinridge, and the Civil Rights Act of 1964. (Citations 15, p. 17, and #18, p. 17, 3, 4, and 7, p. 15).

(3) Petitioner prays Writ of Certiorari to the United States Court of Appeals for assistance with other matters mentioned in the complaint as to recovering assets lost during the period of the contract and thereafter as the results of the contract and the death of Mr. Buxton, the resulting invasion of privacy, and a funeral for the pitiable veteran who so happily devoted most of his working years as an IBM'er to the U.S. Navy.

Respectfully submitted,

/s/ MARIAN VIRGINIA BUXTON

On consideration of the appellee's motion for summary affirmance and of the memorandum of amicus curiae submitted pursuant to this Court's order of September 21, 1973, and it appearing to the Court that appellant may not have submitted a formal claim with the appellee prior to instituting this cause as required by 28 U.S.C. § 2675, which reads:

> (a)An action shall not be instituted upon a claim against the United States for money damages for injury or loss of property or personal injury or death caused by the negligent or wrongful act or omission of any employee of the Government while acting within the scope of his office or employment, unless the claimant shall have first presented the claim to the appropriate Federal agency and his claim shall have been finally denied by the agency in writing and sent by certified or registered mail. The failure of an agency to make final disposition of a claim within six months after it is filed shall, at the option of the claimant any time thereafter, be deemed a final denial of the claim for purposes of this section. The provisions of this subsection shall not apply to such claims as may be asserted under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure by third party complaint, cross-claim, or counterclaim.

MOTION FOR LEAVE TO FILE MOTION FOR EXTENSION OF TIME WITHIN WHICH TO FILE MEMORANDUM OF AMICUS CURIAE

Amicus curiae respectfully moves the Court for leave to file a motion for extension of time within which to file his memorandum pursuant to this Court's order of September 20, 1973, on the grounds that his investigation of the circumstances and preparation of the memorandum has been unavoidably delayed due to the fact that appellant moved California, a fact not known to amicus curiae in sufficient time to present a motion for extension of time within the time limitations set forth in this Court's Rule.

WHEREFORE, this motion should be granted, and the Court should permit the filing of the motion for extension of time.

MARIAN VIRGINIA BUXTON, Appellant.

MOTION TO EXTEND TIME FOR THE FILING OF THE MEMORANDUM FOR AMICUS CURIAE

Amicus curiae respectfully moves the Court to extend the time for the filing of his memorandum to and including November 9, 1973, and in support thereof represents as follows:

1. On September 23, 1973, this Court appointed amicus curiae and directed him to file a memorandum setting forth the circumstances surrounding the alleged destruction of appellant's property.

2. In order to properly perform that task, it has been necessary for amicus curiae to endeavor to locate and interview appellant. Amicus has now discovered that appellant has moved to Cornelia Bay, California, but the only address which he has been able to obtain is a postal box at the Cornelia Bay Post Office. Efforts to reach appellant by telephone, and by enlisting the aid of the Cornelia Bay postmaster, have not been successful.

3. In an effort to fully discharge his responsibilities, amicus has sought to enlist the aid of law schools near Cornelia Bay, California. These efforts have not been successful. However, the legal aid society of Reno, Nevada has agreed to assist amicus and the Court by dispatching an investigator to the Cornelia Bay area to interview the appellant and discover the circumstances surrounding the alleged destruction of property. It is anticipated that amicus will have the report of this interview within ten days, and as soon as the report is received, amicus will prepare and file his memorandum.

WHEREFORE, amicus respectfully prays that this motion be granted and the time for filing his memorandum be extended until November 9, 1973.
